1	When my brother sought a shul to have his autistic son's bar mitzva, he was turned away from the shul I belonged to without any testing or checking his ability. They ultimately found a rabbi with an autistic child in her family who took him on; the result was outstanding.	9/6/2018 1:11 PM
2	My relative was turned down for a job she was qualified for because she had a mobility issue and they were afraid she would sue them if she fell.	9/6/2018 9:39 AM
3	My son was kicked out of our temple's nursery school because he wasn't talking. He was not a behavior problem, by the way; he had been diagnosed with a speech and language disorder. When he was 14, he was also turned away by another temple — ironically it was a new program they were launching for teens with special needs. He was rejected because he has seizures — as was my friend's son, who also has epilepsy. Guess our sons were too special for their special needs program. And yes, I'm still angry at how we were treated.	9/4/2018 4:54 PM

I approached a small Orthodox shul led by the man who was my Rabbi at my bat mitzvah and we designed a melave malka that allowed her to showcase her talents and learning in a more informal setting. BTW, my stepdaughter has a brain disorder, while my daughter has ADD and dyslexia that did not prevent her graduating from a K-8 day school. She led services and lained Torah at her In-school ceremony and received the Torah reading prize at her graduation. My stepdaughter has been estranged from Judaism ever since and actively refuses to involve herself or her daughter in formal or informal activities whether religious or social.	8/7/2018 6:28 PM

13	Better PR to let people know what you are doing	8/7/2018 3:51 PM
14	Work to make the case as consistently and clearly as possible. In the Jewish context, we talk a lot about values and priorities, but too few people/institutions live those values. They're just words people mumble once or twice a year in synagogue. Or they'll step up to help others hundreds or thousands of miles away, but ignore the child/adult right in front of them, in their community, who wants/needs/deserves to be seen/included.	8/7/2018 3:49 PM
15	Ask people with disabilities to help and be decision makers	8/1/2018 6:16 AM
16	reading materials, success stories, medias, conferences, special meetings with big and small business, training programs e.g. restaurant in S.I teaches how to be a chef or waiter/ress to people with disabilities.	7/23/2018 11:35 AM
17	Have people who have disabilities give speeches/conferences with companies/religious buildings/maybe even town hall meetings explaining what would be needed for people who have disabilities to be included. My nephew who is 38 years old was born with Cerebral Palsy has given speeches in just about all the USA as well as Israel for the past at least 15 years about how to handle inclusion. There should be more of that being done.	7/22/2018 1:48 PM
18	Outreach and education of how a person has a disability, they aren't disabled. We just work differently.	7/15/2018 1:49 PM
19	Visit Camp HASC	7/12/2018 5:37 PM
20	Education needs to begin early. Children need to learn tolerance and acceptance of all. Wedding vows should include after sickness and health "or the development of a life-altering condition." Employers spend millions on cultural sensitivity and sexual harassment training. How much is spent on handicapped acceptance or the acceptance of the mentally ill in the workplace? How about reaching out to people like me who are both physically and mentally handicapped and can't work, who will be 49 tomorrow, and who feel like their lives are a waste. They are barely surviving on SSD while their high school classmates have great careers.	7/11/2018 10:40 AM

27	outreach in communities to schools, faith based organizations, libraries, etc. to educate all about people with disabilities and accommodations that can be made	7/10/2018 8:11 PM
28	Realize they are people to. They are t different	7/10/2018 7:54 PM
29	Expanding opportunities for professional work from home.	7/10/2018 5:45 PM
30	Keep up the good work	7/10/2018 5:28 PM
31	make people aware that you exist.	7/10/2018 5:21 PM
32	Reach out to kulanu in cedarhurst	7/10/2018 5:16 PM
33	Find and reach out to people who appear "normal" on the surface. Some of us work very hard to seem that way, and when we succeed, no one believes we are nonetheless disabled in some way(s).	7/10/2018 5:08 PM
34	convince more employers to hire people with disabilities	7/10/2018 5:05 PM
35	Include the ideas of people with disabilities	7/10/2018 4:39 PM
36	Hold an event with HR, Business executives, and various disabled [employed and not employed]; make it fun, interactive, informative - an opportunity to see and get to know diverse people as just people	7/10/2018 4:00 PM
37	I don't know what you do. How and why would I make any suggestions before I do?	7/10/2018 3:37 PM
38	I wish I did	7/10/2018 3:14 PM
39	My sense is that integration is more successful when there are parallel activities and some grouped together not complete integration. Because there are some real differences and it's more meaningful when not forced or taking away from others experiences. I hope you know what I mean and that this comes out respectfully. Also it would help to have people with disabilities or family members of those with disabilities talk about it to help destigmatize.	7/10/2018 3:11 PM
40	please send an observer to my congregation at 144-10 68th drive, flushing , ny 11367 ohr Binyamin Shabbat services at 8:30 am it would br=e great if observer was a talmid chcham who speaks Hebrew fluently this is mered beshem shamayim	7/10/2018 3:10 PM
41	I wish you good luck in your endeavors with all disabled people.	7/10/2018 3:09 PM
42	I do not hear the voices of people with disabilities -- certainly not every week or month. As one myself, this leads to hiding, passing, shame, etc.	7/10/2018 3:00 PM
43	Send out fewer letter & emails	7/10/2018 2:53 PM
44	I work with ASD, and OHI children and young adults as an educational therapist. I help implement educational plans and environmental accessibility.	7/10/2018 2:23 PM

46	make sure to include communication access	7/10/2018 2:22 PM
47	Lobbying for accommodations for disabled	7/10/2018 2:10 PM
48	small College campuses--faculty report that they want to help their students, but don't necessarily know the best way to fulfill accommodations--or even better, to structure things so fewer accommodations are needed-- or who they can even ask. If you can help those teachers, you will have strong advocates.	7/10/2018 2:10 PM
49	Mentoring programs.	7/10/2018 2:07 PM

50	More often than I care to think about, I have heard persons who are not directly connected to persons with disabilities lament that "those people" should be the "responsibility" (or "burden") of the families and "they" are not the responsibility of the community etc. I think there is a huge-- seemingly insurmountable--obstacle to helping to expand inclusion and opportunities for people with disabilities as long as the greater public considers those persons "burdens" or problems to be dealt with privately solely within the home. This perspective is more prevalent than I would have ever expected, in seemingly liberal-minded cities and places that otherwise tout diversity. The mindset of society is the largest barrier to your success.	7/10/2018 2:02 PM
51	Provide guidelines for the provision of effective and economical accommodations for people with disabilities.	7/10/2018 12:52 PM
52	Write out your goals, your target market and what you do differently. Send it to the Dell Foundation or the Gates Foundation for funds, you'll need to account for the money you ask for, hire speakers to go into all schools, public and private and train staff to respect and accept the disabled.	7/10/2018 12:46 PM
53	I have had a close relative with a disability--deafness-- for 50 years! I never heard of you till today	7/10/2018 12:45 PM
54	listen	7/10/2018 11:28 AM
55	More work is needed so that people with disabilities can work and get paid enough to be able to live independently. Government supports cut them off when they don't make enough to support themselves independently; a Catch 22 and very distressing and not encouraging those who want to work and get off government support.	7/10/2018 11:27 AM
56	No	7/10/2018 11:25 AM
57	Continue your good work and exams your influence on religious and social institutions	7/6/2018 12:22 PM
58	Resources for private schools to accommodate children in the regular classrooms	7/4/2018 6:55 PM
59	Oftentimes when I attend events, there will be no visible information about where restrooms are, which often makes me take time from the event to scout out where they are.	6/28/2018 10:42 AM
60	More involvement by heads of religious/community organizations with less talk and big dinners and more actual changes of both facilities and coaching, etc.	6/27/2018 6:31 PM

Q43 Please share any additional information about inclusion efforts in which you are involved that we should know more about.
